Amendment 0004

The following question was received:

Question: Will the incoming vendor be responsible for answering any questions with regards to notices sent by the previous vendor? For example, if there's any question about a notice that was sent two (2) years ago, what was sent, when it was sent, who it was sent to, will the incoming vendor be expected to be able to provide answers to these?

Answer: Any pre-award data for which the vendor will be responsible for answering questions will be provided by the Government after award of the contract. The pre-award data will include notice detail information for the previous 90 days of the incumbent contract and notice summary information for the last six years of the incumbent contract. Under the new contract, the contractor shall retain notice summary information for the duration of the contract and notice detail information for at least 90 days. See C.5.4.7 and C.5.4.8.
